

Pain

by LoloTheNeko

Category: How to Train Your Dragon, Rise of the Guardians

Genre: Hurt-Comfort

Language: English

Characters: Hiccup, Jack Frost

Status: Completed

Published: 2013-05-30 23:34:19

Updated: 2013-05-30 23:34:19

Packaged: 2016-04-26 15:12:57

Rating: T

Chapters: 1

Words: 281

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: Pain, that's all I feel. Out of all the things he could have said he chose the words "I hate you".

Pain

Pain. That's all I feel. Out of all the things he could have said he chose the words "I hate you".

Why did he do this to me? Leave me with nothing when I gave him everything. We had snowball fights in the winter, he took me flying with him on toothless and I even met his farther. We spent Christmas together, just me and him all cuddled up in bed on Christmas Eve waiting for presents under the tree in the morning.

I just don't know what happened we were so happy together. Just me and him, Jack and Hiccup battling through the tough times together...well not anymore.

One day he was happy then the next day he was throwing punches against the wall, I just felt like I didn't know him anymore. Then he said the words I hated hearing, "I hate you, I don't want to see you ugly mug around here ever again." My eyes were swollen with tears as I left his house that night, never to return again.

I cried the whole week after that day, even seeing the children's faces when they saw it snowing in the morning didn't cheer me up. I even thought about suicide, and then I remembered all the people who want/need me around, Tooth/Baby Tooth, North, Sandy, (sometimes) Bunnymund and all the children in the world. Especially one little boy, the little boy who was the first person to see me, Jamie Bennett. That little kid believed in me when others didn't and he helped fight off Pitch, and well if that kid believes in me I guess I'll have to stay around a little longer.

Please Review xx

End
file.